Below is what I'm trying to do: let $doc := doc('/all-candidates/id/{candidate_id}')[1] let $search := search:search($doc) for $att in search:search-child-items($search), let $doc := doc('/candidates/search/{search:search-item}/candidate_id/{search:search-item}') where $doc[1]/candidate_id return $doc[1] The above doesn't work as it throws an error of error(400, "Invalid search term"); Also tried the below, but it is incorrect let $search := search:search($doc) for $att in search:search-child-items($search), let $doc := doc('/candidates/search/{search:search-item}/candidate_id/{search:search-item}') where $doc[1]/candidate_id return $doc[1] A: Unfortunately, search:search-child-items is not a function, but a query. The result is itself a sequence. You could use the 1st member of that result as the document expression. E.g.: let $doc := doc('/all-candidates/id/{candidate_id}')[1] let $search := search:search($doc) for $att in search:search-child-items($search), let $doc := doc('/candidates/search/{search:search-item}/candidate_id/{search:search-item}') where $doc[1]/candidate_id return $doc[1] Culinary Review: The Denver International Airport's Chili's I've been a big fan of Chili's for as long as
